Blaze of fireworks opens Dubai tower

DUBAI, UNITED ARAB EMIRATES

—Blasted by $180 million in debts and a dominating real estate crash, Dubai on Monday opened the world's tallest skyscraper in a blaze of fireworks, leading some to wonder whether the event is the emirate's crowning glory or its last laugh.

Just one month after a close brush with bankruptcy, the financially troubled emirate celebrated the opening of the rock-clad pinnacle that soars 628 meters out of desert sands in a glittering ceremony meant to put a brave face on Dubai's crashing oil income.

Concerns about the debt pile overshadowed both the ceremony and boasts by its builder that the office—which has views that reach nearly 100 kilometers—holds a new dawn.

"The vision for Dubai is that the event will be remembered as a second birth of Dubai," said David Ben-Net, regional director at Karama International.

Not guilty—Ampatuan Jr.

Judge in Maguindanao massacre trial 'cool, calm, brave'

By Cathy C. Yaneza and Marian Ramos

MAYOR ANDAL AMPATUAN JR. YESTERDAY pleaded "not guilty" to 41 counts of murder filed against him in connection with the massacre of 57 persons in Maguindanao on Nov. 23.

Quizon City Judge Jocelyn Solis Reyes noted the suspect's arraignment yesterday morning before the start of the hearing on his petition for bail, as suggested by government prosecutors. Senior State Prosecutor Ruben Pacheco pointed out that the bail petition could not be heard unless Ampatuan Jr. was arraigned first.

A collective his was heard in the courtroom when defense lawyer Egidio Foran expressed doubt his client Ampatuan would understand the criminal charges filed against him if they were read in English.

"He only speaks Maguindanao... and currently we do not have our own interpreter," Foran told Judge Reyes.

The bias rose to loud murmurs when Foran volunteered to ask his client if he "understands Tagalog."

The judge corrected Foran, telling him to ask Ampatuan whether he "understands Filipino."

After a quick fumble with his notes, Foran announced that Ampatuan was "willing" to have the charges read to him in English.

Ampatuan eventually pleaded "not guilty" to the 41 counts of murder filed against him in two batches in the Quizon City Regional Trial Court last yesterday.

The clerk of court separately read the existing information filed against Ampatuan in connection with the murder of Gensabe Mangalad, wife of Buluan Vice Mayor Samuel "Tito" Mangalad, and her sisters-in-law Rita Foran and Rita Eban.

The three women, along with other women, lawyers, journalists and media workers, were in a room listening to the court proceedings.

GMA backs Con-con bill, says Palace ally

By Gil C. Cabacungan Jr.

PRESIDENT MANGPADALAY is pushing a bill seeking the election by October of a constitutional convention (Con-con) and is considering putting it on the agenda in a proposed special session to ensure its passage.

Rep. Rogelio Gonsales II said yesterday.

House Bill No. 6975 is up for second reading in the lower chamber and its passage has been given priority by Mr. Arroyo's allies and even critics who are opponents of the bill.

In a text message, Gonsales, the House minority majority leader, said he could not foresee the bill being passed by the Senate.

"It's really at a loss on how the Con-con will have a chance even in the remote possibility that it is approved by the House. It's not a priority bill of the Senate," Gonsales said.

"With the official campaign period for national positions looming, I think it's dead. And I'm quite sure the President will not call a special session for it."

Both the House and the Senate leadership have expressed support for a special session if the 14th Congress in its final working days from Jan. 18 to Feb. 5 fails to legislate the administrative priority bills.

"Personally, I think majority of the House members will support the Con-con bill," Gonsales said. Gonsales said in a text message.

Partial solar eclipse on Jan. 15

THE PHILIPPINES WILL SEE A PARTIAL solar eclipse on Jan. 15 with the moon covering around half of the sun in some areas of the country.

According to the Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration (PAGASA), Metro Manila sun-draws will see 38.3 percent of the sun's disk obscured. Slated out by the agency, the eclipse will start at 3:41 p.m. in Metro Manila with the maximum eclipse coming at 5:12 p.m. and ending at 5:13 p.m.

In the Cebu area, the percentage of the sun's diameter covered by the moon, known as obscuration or eclipse magnitude, is at its highest for the country at 58.8 percent. In Iloilo City, the eclipse magnitude is at 58.8 percent. The eclipse magnitude is lowest in Zamboanga City at 11.6 percent.

Around the world, the eclipse will be viewed as an annular eclipse, meaning the moon would not be able to cover the whole of the sun, so it is the case of a total eclipse.

Laguna solon set to retake seat

LIMETA HER DAVILA RAMON FERNANDEZ will regain his seat as representative of the first district of Laguna once Congress opens later this month.

"We will recall him when Congress opens and abide by the Supreme Court decision. We will not be entitled to all salaries as if there is no gap in his tenure," House Speaker Prospero Pineda said in a text message.

Fernandez has not yielded his seat even as the House of Representatives Electoral Tribunal (HRET) has ruled with finality on the case last August because of Pineda's reluctance to implement the order.

Negros decided to wait for the Supreme Court to act on Fernandez's appeal before making up the HRET ruling.

An ethics complaint was filed by senior House official against Negros for carrying on the HRET ruling.

Hopman tennis: Hewitt, Stosur power Australia past US

PERTH, AUSTRALIA—AUSTRALIANS LLEYTON HEWITT and Samantha Stosur beat their American opponents in straight sets Tuesday to clinch the United States Open Hopman Cup final consolation.

Hewitt beat John Isner, 6-1, 7-5, while Stosur defeated Madison Keys, 6-3, 6-4, to give Australia a convincing 2-0 lead ahead of the final decider.

The US team faces the Hopman Cup B team and been mixed-up on four occasions.

The win earned Australia's lead at 1-1 while the US fell to 0-2. In yesterday's group stage Tuesday, Stosur added one more win, each of them teams with 1-0 records.

The team with the best record in each of two groups advance to tomorrow's final. Stosur won the first three games of its match with Isner in just eight minutes, and found a break point while serving for the set before being run-aways to win. Her brother's win in the 1976 game of the second set, then led service to clinch the match.

Stosur lost to Isner who is Australia's opening match to tomorrow's Nations Cup.

"It's a lot better walking off the court a winner than a loser," Isner said. "I thought I played pretty well today."

Stosur won the first set in 26 minutes but lost a tougher one to the second, losing three break points before securing a break of her own to open a 4-2 lead. She converted three of seven break-point opportunities and lost 14 aces.

Stosur and Isner, each 3-0, play their group B matches on Wednesday. The British, led by Andy Murray, take on Germany while Spain plays Czech Republic.

Top Rank, Solar ties still strong

THREE REALLY on foot to see who it would win when both Top Rank and Solar tied to renew their partnership for boxing rights outside of the Manny Pacquiao fight.

What really came in to see who it would win when both Top Rank and Solar tied to renew their partnership for boxing rights outside of the Manny Pacquiao fight.

Solar's contract to see Pacquiao fight from up to 2012, a good five years from now. But the contract expires, the Pacquiao fight was sold, to see.

While it looked like Solar was supposed to buy them when both Solar signed a two-year contract with Solar, Solar was under the hood, Solar did not offering, after John Channing, said the "breakdown" was a mutual agreement between the two parties.

"We arrived at a mutual agreement that Top Rank can move forward with their business opportunities, but the relationship between Solar and Top Rank and Bob Arum remains strong and productive," said Solar, who recently held a contract with HBO PPV which has the rights to the biggest fight in the world each on the evening Monday nights.

HBO PPV is the center of all Pacquiao fights abroad.

Apparently, the contract for other rights presented by Top Rank was an longer contract by Solar. And this was where HBO PPV was not.

"We called an output deal, HBO PPV has the rights to all the fights put out by Top Rank," said Solar, who recently held the giant network.

Last year, Solar launched a new boxing unit, in partnership with the Pacquiao, which they called "Boxing of the Day".

Stosur said during the launch that the objective of the unit, which focuses on boxing and boxing, is to help the Pacquiao fight in the future.

"This is the biggest boxing event in the world and we're proud to give Top Rank the right to give us the money," said Solar, who recently launched the unit.

The second of the boxing is the first to be sold in the light of the boxing unit, which focuses on boxing and boxing, is to help the Pacquiao fight in the future.

Manila traffic enforcer cited for heroism killed

By James L. Andrus

A TRAFFIC ENFORCER WHO was cited for heroism last year by Manila Mayor Alfredo Lim died after he was shot by a well-armed劫匪 on Monday afternoon.

About 10:27, who was assigned as the Manila Traffic Policing Bureau (MTPB), was deployed along an arterial by attending doctors at the University of the East, Tomas Hospital where a lone gunshot wound in the back.

RCO Assistant Director of the Manila Police District, homicide division said he was shot at around 1:10 p.m. on Monday on his way to work.

Despite his injury, the victim was able to get on his motorcycle, presumably to go to a hospital to seek treatment. He was managed to call the MTPB office to inform his colleagues that he had been shot.

But on the way to the hospital, the victim collapsed and died off his motorcycle. Police doctors, Roland de Guzman and Rector Cordero, approached him and took him to the JCT Hospital when they saw the Manila coming from his second.

Heavily cited the shooting may have something to do with the victim's job at the arrest of two children last year.

The victim, he added, recently received a P10,000 cash reward from Lim for apprehending two more via C-28 at the corner of Espina Boulevard and Guay Street.

Steady illness and Antonio Lumbao were arrested by the victim for espionage, kidnapping and killing threats on Jan. 20, a 20-year-old man.

Homicide division investigators were conducting follow-up operations for the identification and arrest of the person in the victim's killing.

GRACE FIRE Police officers put out a fire which hit a group of men near C-28 in the Tugay City. They believe the fire was set by a person associated with the case.

'Monday shooting incident job-related'

By Henry C. Canalis

TWO POLICE OFFICERS SAID a shooting incident on Monday which left three traffic enforcers and two civilians wounded was job-related and that identifying the person would be "impossible."

"The shooting was job-related based on information with the victim. We could not find any personal basis for them to be attacked," Chief Insp. Benjamin Ocasio said the person could be someone who might have been apprehended and wrongly charged with a traffic violation.

"It was an attack against the traffic enforcers, not personal," he said, adding that they were not looking at the possibility that it was a case of mistaken identity.

"We possible the person was a member of a group of men who were assigned to man the boulevard on a different shift and the person thought it was the same group," Ocasio said.

He said that the person was not identified as the person who shot the traffic enforcers, but that the person was not identified as the person who shot the traffic enforcers.

"We will have to rely on the fact that the person was not identified as the person who shot the traffic enforcers," Ocasio said.

Three members of the Quezon City Government's Department of Public Order and Safety were wounded on Monday afternoon when a motorcycle riding south fired at them on E. Rodriguez to Bernardino Highway.

They were identified as Danilo Pella, Marlon Guila and Bernabe Lallana.

She remained in the hospital when Joseph Lallana, an employee of the San Marcos Medical Center, and Bernabe Guila were the ambulance badly damaged due to a traffic violation.

MMDA mulls night markets for vendors

By Hilda Calpa

BUREAU OF COORDINATED GOING after several vendors, the Metropolitan Manila Development Authority (MMDA) will provide them with an area where they can sell their wares without obstructing traffic.

A day after he asked vendors to leave to clear the sidewalks and give them back to pedestrians, MMDA Chief Desir Baccante recently said the agency also hoped to address their need for a proper place where they could sell their wares.

He explained that the MMDA is looking at the possibility of putting up night markets in the area in Hong Kong and Singapore.

"Instead of constantly going after them, we will look for an alternative means or venue where they will be allowed to operate. We want those markets to operate only at night because we do not want to cause traffic problems," Baccante said.

He added that he had directed MMDA General Manager Robert Sarmiento to find suitable areas in coordination with local governments to do so.

One of the requirements for the proposed market sites is that they should be situated "conveniently away" from major thoroughfares and secondary roads but accessible to pedestrians, Baccante said.

The site space would be restricted to vendors at a special designated area.

"In these night markets, we will assure them that they will be protected against encroachment demanding protection money from them. On the other hand, we will solve any problems in sidewalk vendors. This is a win-win situation," Baccante said.

Baccante said he ordered the issuance of various notices to sidewalk vendors and business establishments that had encroached on sidewalks and roadways during the holiday season.

This was after a resolution implemented by the agency on sidewalk clearing operations "to the spirit of the season" and on Jan. 21.

Baccante, however, said he would not enforce it in the weeks to come, adding that he wanted them to abide by their agreement that they would have voluntarily with the lanes of the bus.

He said that the agency would be looking at the possibility that it was a case of mistaken identity.

"We will have to rely on the fact that the person was not identified as the person who shot the traffic enforcers," Ocasio said.

US readies new security checks, revamps watchlist

WASHINGTON—PRESIDENT BARACK OBAMA was announcing new measures on Tuesday to strengthen airline security after an alleged terrorist attempt to destroy a Detroit-bound United States airliner on Christmas Day.

Fresh off a Christmas evening assaulted by jets of the incident, Obama scheduled a meeting on Tuesday afternoon with high-ranking government officials charged with securing not just routes but airlines after the heinous attack—circumventing the air travel and on the US more watchlist system.

Obama was to outline his final response to the public after the shooting in which 26 officials were injured, as well as a series of new steps to improve the watchlist and flight status security system, the White House said.

The Transportation Security Administration already has increased airline, effective Monday, to give full-body pat-down searches to US-bound travelers from Britain, Nigeria, Saudi Arabia and 11 other countries.

Secretary of State Hillary Rodham Clinton, Defense Secretary Robert Gates, Homeland Security Secretary Janet Napolitano, CIA Director Leon E. Panetta and FBI Director Robert Mueller were among those expected to meet with Obama in the White House Wednesday.

Attorney General Eric Holder, Dennis Blase, director of national intelligence; Michael Letter, director of the National Counterterrorism Center; national intelligence adviser James Jones, and John Brennan, the president's counterterrorism adviser, also were to attend.

Obama will go online to the investigation from Mueller, on the prosecution from Holder and on the action of terrorist detection techniques from Napolitano. Brennan will update the president on his own review of the system of watchlists and outline his initial findings. Agency heads will maintain on their internal review.

Obama proposed an immediate response by meeting privately with national security aides.

The government also has added dozens of names to its list of suspected terrorists and those barred from US-bound flights. The addition of names to the government's terrorist watch list and the newly full-body pat-down searches is a larger database of suspected terrorists, an intelligence official said on Monday. The official spoke on condition of anonymity because the individual was not authorized to speak publicly. AP

Nasa's Kepler telescope finds 5 new exoplanets

WASHINGTON—NASA's Kepler space telescope has discovered five new planets beyond the solar system, the United States space agency said on Monday. Just 10 months after Kepler launched into space to find Earth-like planets.

The discovery of the five exoplanets "contributes to our understanding of how planetary systems form and evolve from the gas and dust disks that give rise to both the stars and their planets," NASA's William Borucki, principal science investigator for the Kepler mission, said in a statement.

The all-five exoplanets are "as big as the life as we know it," NASA said.

The newly discovered planets are known as "hot Jupiters" because of their large masses and extreme temperatures, which range from 1,204 to 1,600 degrees Celsius—hotter than molten iron.

Their orbits last between three and five days, meaning they lie low paths close to their stars, which are hotter and larger than the sun's, NASA said.

The position of the newly discovered planets is roughly the size of Neptune, the fourth largest planet in Earth's solar system, and the biggest is around the size of Jupiter, the largest planet in our solar system.

One of the planets, which have been given the designation Kepler-90b, is similar in many ways to Neptune, although its radiation level is much higher.

Another planet is one of the least dense ever discovered, and along with the other three, confirms the existence of planets with densities substantially lower than those predicted for gas giant planets.

The five exoplanets were among discoveries made by the Kepler space telescope in the first six weeks after it became operational in May last year. AP

CIA base bomber was a double agent

WASHINGTON—THE US-CIA bomber who killed eight people inside a Git base in Afghanistan claimed to have information about Osama bin Laden's second-in-command, and was being recruited as a double agent to infiltrate al-Qaida, a former senior United States intelligence official and a foreign-experience official confirmed on Monday.

The bombing killed seven US employees—four officials and three contractors working globally—and a Pakistani intelligence official, Ali bin Zaid, according to a second former US intelligence official. The officials spoke on condition of anonymity because they were not authorized to discuss the incident.

The former senior intelligence official said the foreign official told his bomber was Osama Khalid Abu Mubad al-Balawi, a 36-year-old driver from Tampa, Arizona, who had been recruited by American intelligence. Tampa is the hometown of aide al-Qaida in Iraq leader Abu Mubad al-Zarqawi. NBC News first reported the bomber's identity.

He was arrested more than a year ago by American intelligence and was thought to have been persuaded to support US and American efforts against al-Qaida, according to the NBC report. He was recruited to carry out a mission, a highly sensitive CIA forward base in Khost province on the frontier of Afghanistan from where he was offering urgent information to track down Ayman al-Zarqawi, the leader's right-hand man.

The CIA declined to comment on the report.

Haji Yusef, a self-proclaimed spokesperson for the "Islamic" militants, identified the bomber as Mubad al-Balawi, said he was an American Khalid Mohammed, also known as Abu-Dajana al-Balawi. There was no independent confirmation of al-Balawi's statement.

al-Balawi was not searched for bombs when he got into Camp Chapman, according to both former officials and a current intelligence official. AP

Vista Land starts 2010 with residential condo milestones

By Joseph

Strategic locations of Vista Residences

Makati: At present, Vista Residences is offering four condominium developments in Makati: Mosaic in Greenbelt, which is the group's first residential condo, is located in Laguna Village, now under construction; and Laureles de Tiro (near Don Bosco on Chino Roces, with its first tower just about completed). The group has also pre-sold the Salcedo Village with The Gallery along UP Levante St.

Quezon City: Adding their silhouette to the Quezon City skyline are four developments of Vista Residences: Symphony Towers behind the QMA compound, Pine Crest in Shaw, Merid, which is undergoing construction, Marikina Plaza in Cubao, and WLS Tower behind ABS-CBN, which will be Vista Residences' anchor project in 2010, the brand's latest development to be launched.

Ortigas: In the vibrant Ortigas Business District, Vista Residences is the first to offer both office and residential units with the Curyonco Julia Vargas Ave.

Bonifacio Global City: Awaiting of new opportunities in areas where condo developments are increasingly a winning proposition, Vista Residences has Avant at the Fort in Bonifacio Global City, set to open all this month.

Makati: Addressing the growing needs of halfway home for students, the Crown Tower at the University Ball in Makati is also in the advanced phase of construction.

Housing expertise applied to residential condo

"Vista Land brings its residential condo developments our expertise and built record accumulated from building the most number of homes among all the country's real estate companies," Mr. Serrano said.

"We know how to make condos that are not only aesthetically appealing but perhaps, more importantly, are also 'turnkey,'" he says, but will appreciate that they are designed to be lived in, providing comfort and enduring value. A key aspect is our wealth of experience in planning the use of space so that despite limitations, it is maximized for functional and comfortable living," he explained.

Competitive value

With its participation in various residential segments ranging from entry level to high-end projects, Vista Land's total portfolio consists of 127 projects nationwide, located in 15 provinces and 12 cities and municipalities, its sheer number and geographical spread of existing developments is unmatched by any other property developer in the country. More than 80 percent of Vista Land buyers are overseas

Following the success of Mosaic @ Greenbelt, Vista Land is also launching 2009

Filipino workers (OFWs) with naturally greater ability than the rest of the population to absorb home acquisitions, and who have consistently generated Vista Land projects over the past several years. Given that it has the widest product range and means the most geographically diverse properties in the industry, Vista Land is able to offer projects to families of OFWs in areas of the country where its competitors focus on presence. At the same time, Vista Land's development locations correspond closely with the geographical distribution of OFWs.

Most recently, a report by LEO Venture of CLSA Asia-Pacific recently released in November, 2009 said that Vista Land stock has the highest potential upside based on a price target of Pp 3.94 over the next 12 months.

Similarly, a report by analyst Gibson Capital of Credit Suisse released in December 2009 mentioned in "Outperform" rating of Vista Land. As "Outperform" rating is given if the analyst believes that the stock's total return is expected to exceed the industry average by at least 10 - 15 percent or more, depending on parameters set over the next 12 months. The Credit Suisse report also noted a potential upside based on a price target of Pp 3.63. The report said that Vista Land remains the most attractively valued among property companies.

Proceeding from its listed foundation as a publicly listed company, Vista Land's initiatives in the residential market segment are part of a strategic direction that will generate significant value added in the real estate sector for its stakeholders, specifically, its property buyers, shareholders, and business, increasing participation in the segment through the Vista Residences brand. In one of the planned, concrete steps in that direction, Mr. Serrano concluded.
